

FIND CROYDON MAN DEAD IN WOODS; SHOT IN HEART

Body of Lynwood Vandegrift, 61, is Discovered After A Long Search

SUFFERED ILL HEALTH

Victim Reported As Being Despondent for Last Ten Months

CROYDON, June 13 — The lifeless body of Lynwood Vandegrift, 61, was found in a woodland about 175 feet from his home, 1110 Sycamore avenue, here, this morning at 5:30. A shot from a 12-gauge shot-gun had penetrated his heart, according to Dr. William L. Goldfarb, Bristol, deputy coroner of Bucks County.

Mr. Vandegrift had been missing from his home since yesterday, he last being seen alive by his step-sister, Mrs. Sadie G. Starr, who resided with him, at 1:15 yesterday afternoon when Mrs. Starr left for her employment.

According to neighbors, a newspaper delivered to the Vandegrift home at four o'clock, had been taken inside by 4:15, indicating that Mr. Vandegrift was alive at that time.

Mr. Vandegrift, it is stated, had been in ill health and despondent for the past 10 months. He was an employee of Henry Disston & Sons, Phila.

When Mrs. Starr and her daughter, Miss Elizabeth Starr, Phila., together with a friend, Miss Frederica Shahan returned home last night at 10:30 Mr. Vandegrift was not in the house. A search was made, and a visit paid to the home of friends to inquire if he was there. Bristol Township police were notified, and Officer Benjamin Chapin responded to the call. The family was asked if any weapon was missing, and it was then discovered the shot-gun was gone.

At 5:30 this morning Miss Starr and Miss Shahan, continuing the search, found the body in the woodland, just beyond a small creek.

The body was removed to the funeral home of John C. Black, Bristol.

FLAG DAY

Annual celebration of Flag Day tomorrow doesn't attain the proportions of observance of many other holidays. People go about their workaday duties, and only the sight of municipal flags, or those flown by patriotic citizens, serves to remind them of the anniversary.

This does not infer that the flag is deliberately neglected. It's unconscious neglect that takes too much for granted. It is a state of mind that could be replaced by a deeper appreciation of country and flag.

Flag Day is the anniversary of adoption by the Continental Congress in 1777 of the Stars and Stripes as the official national emblem of the United States. Rules of etiquette for flag display evolved by custom but it wasn't until June 22, 1942, that Congress, by joint resolution, enacted these rules into public law.

The flag should always be carried aloft and free. It should never be used as a drapery—bunting is for that purpose. It should never be adorned with any mark or insignia, should not be used to receive, hold or carry anything, and should not be used for advertising purposes or as part of any uniform.

When a flag becomes unfit for display, it should be destroyed in a dignified way, preferably by burning.

STILL GROWING

Final figures on the 1950 census have been announced by the Census Bureau. As of April 1 of that year the United States had a total population of 154,233,000. But the figure is outdated. The mechanical computer of the Department of Commerce shows that the population has since increased by more than 2,600,000.

The increase between 1940 and 1950 was approximately 1,900,000 a year. The increase since 1950, as shown by the computer, is at the rate of only 1,300,000 a year. This apparent downward trend is not explained by the Census Bureau. One reason may be the declining marriage rate. But at this rate of increase the 1960 figure, barring war or depression, should be not less than 167,000,000.

Up to a point rising population is welcome. Expanding numbers create expanding demand for food, clothing, shelter, etc.

The danger point is when numbers exceed the available food supply. Then, as in Asia, comes a low standard of living, with widespread poverty and recurrent famine. Scientific and mechanized agriculture in the United States should make possible an indefinite expansion of the nation's food supply and chemistry is providing substitutes for other essentials which may become exhausted.

This country's danger, in the foreseeable future, will lie not in its own population increase but in continued unrestricted growth in areas of the world where the means of existence are already spread desperately thin.

No Objections Are Filed To Change of Boundary Lines

change of approximately equal territory all pupils in Levittown could walk to schools in "master blocks" in that development, none crossing any major highways. He pointed out that those children residing in sections four, five, two and three would all attend schools in that area; and those in sections six, seven, eight and nine would attend a school in their own area. The same would be the case for sections B and C. "Each area would be self-contained," Boehm informed. He added that safety and convenience of pupils would be better served, and that all Levittown pupils would be better located for the high schools of their particular area; and that considerable transportation would be eliminated.

He gave information on occupancy and sections proposed for development and how other residents (not Levittown) would be affected. His testimony included: "It looks as if assessments and assets are about equal. No industrial assessments are involved in the proposed changes."

Nelson C. Kanuf, administration assistant to Mr. Levitt for construction, told what comprises "master blocks," and gave information on boundaries. This included the school sites, park areas, houses, and equipment in "master blocks." When queried he said he was "reasonably sure" that the tracts for schools are to be given districts by the Levitt firm. (Later this was corrected by Alvan Thompson, for the sake of record, Thompson stating that the Levitt firm is selling tracts to the school districts.)

Kanuf informed that about 1,000 houses comprise a "master block". He said about 60 have been completed with 900 under construction at present. Some are to be occupied within two weeks, 60 families moving during the first week. He added that later 150 to 175 houses will be completed each week, with approximately 700 families in Levittown by the start of next school term. He added that Levitt & Sons, Inc., are in favor of proposed boundary changes. Asked to return to the stand he answered:

queries on police protection and fire protection, showing that Bristol and Falls townships and Tullytown borough are aiding in such protective measures. Kanuf said that main highways and planted strips will mark boundaries, and thus with "visible boundaries", there should be no question in which district houses are located.

J. Norman Darrah, Churchville, stated he is general manager for Wm. S. Erwin, civil engineer. He testified that the maps shown represent court records. He gave approximate acreage involved, and Conro suggested that Darrah compute definite acreage and submit such to proper officials.

Next called was George Sottung, president of Bristol twp. board of commissioners, one of the signers of the petition. Sottung stated the township commissioners favor the change. Alvan C. Thompson, president of Falls twp. school board, said the directors made a study of the plan, and feel such change will benefit and be of convenience to the township of Falls. Nicholas M. Eberle, Tullytown borough council president, another signer of the petition, said "Tullytown council felt the change would benefit that borough.

William J. McNabb asked the chairman if such proposed change as regards a first class township (such as Bristol twp.) is required to be put to vote of the populace. The answer was "no" in such a proceeding.

Elwood Britton, Bristol township, had a query regarding the area in Falls twp., bounded on the north by Mill Creek road, on the east by Tullytown-Fallsington road, on the south by Tullytown borough, and on the west by a section listed for exchange. He was told in answer to his question that that portion will remain in Falls twp. In regard to this parcel, Boehm told that such is owned by Warner Co. and that at the time the exchange was proposed there was no indication of that tract being sold to Levitt firm.

Names appearing on the petition to Bucks Co. courts, in addition to the Levitt firm are: Frank and Dorothea Tomlinson, Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Anderson. Although property of others in involved in the proposed exchange, it was mentioned that names were not listed as those property holders did not wish to become involved in the court case.

Locates Dep't Of Health for County

County will also be asked to do annually to the health department, as well as local counties, and the entire total from sources will be matched by State.

Teague said that it had been estimated that a county health department for an area of 100,000 population should operate on an estimated cost of $150,000 annually. The estimated budget on the 100,000 basis includes the following suggested personnel: One full-time public health physician as medical director, $10,000; one public health nursing director, $5,000; supervising public health nurses, at $4,200 each; 15 public health nurses at $3,600 each; one health engineer, $5,500; at three sanitarians, at $4,500; sanitarian assistants at $3,300; one public health statistical clerk, $3,500; one public health auditor, $4,500; one public health clerk, $2,100 each; one part-time dental clinician at $2 each; three part-time medical assistants, at $2,000 each; printing expenses, rentals, etc., $10.

Teague said that the organization of a separate county health department does not necessarily mean the abolishment of local health, but that it is becoming in some instances.

The first step in organization of a project has been "sold" to the public and approved by the County Commissioners is the appointment of a County Board of Health of five members, to include physicians. Then comes the question of a budget plan of operation with the State furnishing half the cost of operation, made possible through new laws passed in the last session of the legislature.

Teague pointed out that the county health projects in this county need very special attention, for in many cases it is improper sewer systems. Many projects call for tanks and the soil in Bucks County, Dr. Teague pointed out, is ill-fitted for this type of disposal, unless expert care and control is available, a serious outbreak of disease may occur.

Seven basic health services are minimum a county health department should serve Bucks County. Vital statistics, communicable disease control, environmental health, maternal and child health, laboratory service, health education and chronic disease control.

Dr. Teague stated that Butler County is now organized with a separate model county health demonstration unit that will be in full operation by July 15, from which other counties can copy. He advocated that Bucks County establish the demonstration unit for southeastern Pennsylvania.

Dr. Teague also pointed out that if the County Commissioners do not see fit to appropriate money or to favor the project on their own say-so, that the issue can be voted on by placing it on the ballots at the next county or special election.

Principal of Wood Street School Retires

located in Trenton, N. J. Her first teaching post was at Princeton, N. J., where she remained for four years. Coming to Bristol she taught in Jefferson Avenue school for a short time; then at Washington street school several years; and for a number of years has been principal at Wood street school, teaching fifth grade pupils. She was principal at Washington street school while located there.

Not only has the retiring principal taught two generations in a number of families, but in several instances three generations.

"Extra-curricular" duties of Miss Rogers include serving as teacher for 30 members of the women's Bible class, St. James' Episcopal Church School; the secretaryship of Bucks County Woman's Christian Temperance Union, and treasurer of Bristol Branch of that organization; also treasurer of Bristol Council of Church Women. Among her hobbies are basketry and other handwork.

Miss Rogers is a past president and past secretary of the Bristol Branch, Penna. State Education Association. Since coming to Bristol school system she has seen many changes. During her teaching days at Washington street school she had 56 pupils in her room, with double-seats used. At that time Miss Louise D. Baggs was superintendent of schools here. Miss Rogers has served as teacher during superintendency of three — Miss Baggs, Howard E. James and Warren P. Snyder.

She estimates that well over a thousand pupils have been in her classes here; and that through her principalship she has come in contact with several thousand more.

When she first came to Bristol there were no Mothers and Fathers Associations, and no Parent-Teacher Association. They had, however, "mothers' meetings," the mothers of pupils gathering once a month to discuss various matters with teachers. Wood street school, where she has been holding sway for some time, was the high school during her early days of teaching in Bristol.

Lower Bucks "Y" Plans Father and Son Program

gram of "Y" Indian Guides is based upon the lore of the American Indian. This is because of the common interest of both fathers and sons in Indian life.

"Just as the colorful life of the Indian revolved around the wigwam or tepee, so the tribal meetings are held in rotation in the homes of the braves. These meetings are held twice a month," says a spokesman.

The program includes Indian lore, music, singing, dancing, sign language, simple handicrafts, home-made Indian costume, stories, games, ceremonials, outdoor program and program ideas available through the National Long House.

"There are no rigid tests to pass and their is no severe grading system. The program is carried on with a maximum of freedom, giving the boys a chance to develop their own initiative under the guidance of their dads. The Indian Guides, therefore, is a program developed for the busy but thinking father of today who is concerned lest someone else become the chum and confidant of his son."

O. E. Norbeck, executive secretary of the Bristol YMCA and now responsible for developing the "Y" program in Lower Bucks County, whose life-long hobby has been Indian Lore, is highly qualified to inaugurate a course in Indian Lore for prospective and needed leaders in early fall. Mr. Norbeck further states that developing leaders is one of the most important functions of a YMCA and strongly urges such a recent demand for this type of club by local PTA's, teachers, churches and neighborhood groups, that he has found it necessary to inaugurate a course in Indian Lore for prospective and needed leaders in early fall. Mr. Norbeck further states that developing leaders is one of the most important functions of a YMCA and strongly urges volunteer leaders to join hands with the Lower Bucks County District YMCA in meeting the immediate and imperative challenge of working with the youth of this critical area.

FIND CROYDON MAN DEAD IN WOODS; SHOT IN HEART

Body of Lynwood Vandegrift, 61, is Discovered After A Long Search

SUFFERED ILL HEALTH

Victim Reported As Being Despondent for Last Ten Months

CROYDON, June 13 — The lifeless body of Lynwood Vandegrift, 61, was found in a woodland about 175 feet from his home, 1110 Sycamore avenue, here, this morning at 5:30. A shot from a 12-gauge shot-gun had penetrated his heart, according to Dr. William L. Goldfarb, Bristol, deputy coroner of Bucks County.

Mr. Vandegrift had been missing from his home since yesterday, he last being seen alive by his step-sister, Mrs. Sadie G. Starr, who resided with him, at 1:15 yesterday afternoon when Mrs. Starr left for her employment.

According to neighbors, a newspaper delivered to the Vandegrift home at four o'clock, had been taken inside by 4:15, indicating that Mr. Vandegrift was alive at that time.

Mr. Vandegrift, it is stated, had been in ill health and despondent for the past 10 months. He was an employee of Henry Disston & Sons, Phila.

When Mrs. Starr and her daughter, Miss Elizabeth Starr, Phila., together with a friend, Miss Frederica Shahan returned home last night at 10:30 Mr. Vandegrift was not in the house. A search was made, and a visit paid to the home of friends to inquire if he was there. Bristol Township police were notified, and Officer Benjamin Chapin responded to the call. The family was asked if any weapon was missing, and it was then discovered the shot-gun was gone.

At 5:30 this morning Miss Starr and Miss Shahan, continuing the search, found the body in the woodland, just beyond a small creek. The body was removed to the funeral home of John C. Black, Bristol.

ADVOCATES DEPT OF HEALTH FOR COUNTY

Dr. Russell E. Teague, Sec'y of Health for Penna., Addresses Group

BUCKS CO. VITAL AREA

DOYLESTOWN, June 12—Bucks county physicians, public health nurses and representatives of county and municipal governments yesterday heard Dr. Russell E. Teague, Secretary of Health of Pennsylvania, advocate a separate health department for the County of Bucks.

Secretary Teague was the speaker at a meeting of the Bucks County Medical Society at the Fountain House, Doylestown, when he suggested that an educational campaign be started at once in Bucks county "to tell the people on the idea of a county health department" which he said is badly needed.

"Bucks county is in a vital area and is growing fast as a result of the big industrial growth due to the Fairless plant of the U. S. Steel Company, and before long you will have over 200,000 population," Dr. Teague said. "Your health problems will need more attention and the attention of experts."

At the present time Bucks county has health boards in its boroughs only and there are but two State Sanitariums who cover all the rest of the county not covered by health officers and local boards.

The State is spending $60,000 a year in Bucks county now on various health programs and agencies, and this could be placed into a general fund toward a county health department. Dr. Teague suggested that Bucks county organize on a tentative budget calling for an appropriation of $25,000 from the County Commissioners, or even $10,000 if necessary. Private

Find Boy Reported Missing Asleep At Home of His Aunt

CROYDON, June 13 — William Meldru, 9, of 831 4th ave., reported missing by his mother, Mrs. Bernice Meldru, was located by the Bristol Township Police after a five-hour search. The boy was found at his aunt's home at Hulmeville and Mechanicsville roads.

Mrs. Meldru called Police Chief Seader at 8:30 p. m. last evening and reported her son missing. She stated that he had left on his bicycle to go swimming at one o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Chief Seader, Officer Shaw, Mrs. Meldru, her brother and her father, searched every swimming location in this area. The boy was last seen by a friend at the sand and gravel pits on River road in Croydon. The police car patrolled Silver Lake, Jones Beach, around the Croydon Airport and on both sides of the Neshaminy Creek from the mouth at the Delaware river to Rt. 13.

At little after midnight, Mrs. Meldru stated that she had a sister living at Hulmeville and Mechanicsville roads, but that it was not likely that William would visit them. An investigation revealed that the boy had bicycled out to his aunt's home and that his uncle had decided that it was too late for him to return last night. The boy was comfortably asleep upstairs in bed when he was located.

NESHAMINY SCHOOL AUTHORITY EXAMINES BIDS IN DETAIL FOR PROPOSED SCHOOL; MANY PHASES ARE GIVEN CONSIDERATION

By Staff Reporter

LANGHORNE, June 13 — The Neshaminy school authority held a special meeting last evening in the library of the high school, chiefly for the purpose of examining bids in detail for the proposed new high school.

John H. Wood, chairman of the authority, opened the meeting by calling upon John Majen, secretary, to read the following resolution: "That low bidders and alternates as designated are to be examined by the architect, that final recommendations will be made, and that bids accepted or rejected will be returned by June 11." The architect for the proposed junior-senior high school is Paul d'Entremont of the Jenkintown firm of Berninger, Haag and d'Entremont.

Oscar Hanson, legal counsel for the authority, emphasized that "tonight's meeting is primarily to examine bids for the abilities and qualifications of the firms bidding." He also requested a meeting be scheduled for July 1 for the opening of bids for bonds and that the joint school board be invited to attend. Dr. Oliver Heckman, school superintendent, agreed to take care of this.

A detailed discussion followed over the merits of a cast iron boiler as opposed to a steel boiler. It was decided to refer this problem back to the building committee of the joint school board in order to get an expression of their wishes.

Complications resulted when the group began discussing the bids offered by the electrical contractors. Low bid for electrical work in the new building was given by the McGee electric contractors, but because the McGee unit is a non-union shop, other contractors will walk off the construction when a non-union group appears. Walter Miller, treasurer of the authority, stated, "Because of the tight labor market in this area, we simply cannot hire a non-union group. We have a timetable to meet in building this school, and if we have a series of walkouts by union men because of the appearance of the McGee outfit, we'll have weeks of delay."

Mr. Hanson, legal counsel, replied, "Legally we simply cannot reject the low bid of McGee. We aren't permitted to restrict bidders to union men in our specifications, and if we try to do so to McGee on that basis, we could have a lawsuit on our hands." Because no solution could be reached through discussion, it was decided to talk further with McGee on the subject.

Mr. May and Mr. Potter of the Bucks County Construction Company attended the meeting to explain the qualification they had placed upon their bid for water pipes. They had qualified their low bid by refusing to guarantee electrolysis protection. Mr. May defended his position by saying, "We find it impossible to ascertain such protection ahead of time, and we just can't afford to take the risk involved by making the bid as stated in the specifications. We think it unfair to put such a restriction in the specifications. We'll be glad, though, to withdraw our qualification if you'll consider slight changes in the specifications."

Mr. Hanson answered that the situation will be investigated although he felt that alternate bidders should be contacted to find out why they hadn't placed such a limitation upon their bids.

It was felt by all present that the review of all bids and alternate bids had been quite worthwhile because it had brought to the fore many matters that will require answering before the contracts for work are awarded.

Mr. Hanson requested that the authority take up the selection of a corporate trustee to handle the bond indenture. He stressed the urgency of this by telling that must be done before the bids for bonds can be advertised, as the name of the trustee is to appear in the advertising. Mr. Wood, chairman, closed the meeting to the public at this point so that free discussion could be held on the appointment of some banking

The Lower Bucks County District YMCA will organize a father-and-son "Y" Indian Guides program in Winder Village, Tuesday evening, at eight o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Norbeck.

The "Y" Indian Guides is a national father and son club program, sponsored by the Young Men's Christian Association. It is a program in which fathers and sons participate together as tribe members. Its main purpose is to multiply the number of things that fathers and sons can do together at an age when a boy thinks his dad is "the greatest man in the world." The "Y" believes that comradeship of father and son has mutual advantages that no other program offers. Tribes are composed of fathers and their sons who are six years of age and over.

"The 'Y' Indian Guides is a proven program of many years standing. It was organized in 1926 in St. Louis, Mo., and launched as a national movement in 1935. "As the name indicates, the program

PRINCIPAL OF WOOD ST. SCHOOL RETIRES

Miss Jane W. Rogers is Past Pres't of Bristol Branch Of the P. S. E. A.

GIFT FROM TEACHERS

Friday, the 13th of June, is a "lucky" day for Miss Jane W. Rogers, teaching principal of Wood street school, and member of Bristol public school faculty for many years. For at noon today, Miss Rogers laid aside her text-books, pushed her chair under the desk, and said good-by to pupils and teachers — looking forward to a well-earned rest. Retirement is not quite the word, for although she is formally retiring from her chosen profession, Miss Rogers and her friends feel certain that she will find her time well filled.

In the first place she holds office in various organizations and gives liberally of her time to such; there are household duties which she shares with her sister at their home on Jefferson avenue; and in her own words she feels certain that there will be calls to "do this and that." In fact Miss Rogers is anxious to keep busy, but still looks forward with pleasure to more leisure time in which to visit friends, carry out her handcraft interests, and listen to programs over the air which she has not had opportunity to previously. For this she will use her new radio, a gift from Bristol Teachers Association members when they feted her at dinner at "The Fireside," Mt. Holly, N. J., last week. With this, as a token of their best wishes, went a corsage. School directors were also in attendance.

Miss Rogers graduated from New Jersey State Model School and from New Jersey State Teachers College, when those schools were

NO OBJECTIONS ARE FILED TO A CHANGE OF BOUNDARY LINES

Hearing is Held by Three Commissioners of County Jury of View

FALLS, BRISTOL TWP'S

Maps Are To Be Prepared Showing Boundaries To Be Fixed

By Staff Reporter

EDGELEY, June 13 — No objections to the proposed alteration of lines of Bristol and Falls townships were voiced at a hearing in Edgely Fire Co. station, here, yesterday afternoon.

After testimony was recorded, and queries of interested parties answered, the group was taken on a tour of the sections of the municipal divisions involved to ascertain the physical make-up of the sections proposed for exchange.

Edwin S. Conrose, Esq., presiding officer, with William P. Cosner, and Edward Pickering, 3d, comprise the three commissioners named for this particular case, by the Bucks County Court, they being members of Bucks County jury of view.

It was last January 22nd, during a two hour session, that Bristol township commissioners and Bristol township school board agreed to a change in township lines which will affect 1500 houses to be built in Levittown. The change had first been proposed by superintendent of Bucks Co. schools, Charles H. Boehm, January 9th; and agreed to on January 22nd also by Falls township supervisors and school board.

The township line changes feature land now in Bristol township, south of Emille-Newportville road, and east of Oxford Valley-Tullytown road, to be exchanged for Falls land east of Oxford-Tullytown road and north of the present Tullytown borough line, which will become part of Bristol township.

With no objections voiced yesterday, the commissioners will prepare maps to be presented to Bucks county courts. A query was made by Mrs. Dorothea Thompson as to when changes would take place. To this Cosner replied that it is difficult to answer such question, as much is yet to be accomplished. "We will move along with it. Surveys are yet to be made," added Cosner. Mrs. Thompson's query was mainly concerned with possibility of children being forced to change schools in mid-term. Mr. Boehm pointed out that such change would affect school districts only at the beginning of the school year, the first Monday of each July. The census of opinion was that school could therefore not be affected before July, 1953.

Cosner opened the hearing by informing of the petition now before the court, and mentioning the districts involved. Maps were placed on the walls, showing the Levitt development, also the tracts listed for exchange between townships. William H. Satterthwaite, Jr., solicitor, informed that all parties of interest had been notified of the hearing. On behalf of the petitioners it was asked that boundaries be changed as listed for convenience of those involved, (inhabitants and municipal groups).

James A. Sutton, of a Phila. law firm representing Levitt & Sons, Inc., put questions to a number who took the stand.

Boehm informed that by ex-

FLAG DAY

Annual celebration of Flag Day tomorrow doesn't attain the proportions of observance of many other holidays. People go about their workaday duties, and only the sight of municipal flags, or those flown by patriotic citizens, serves to remind them of the anniversary.

This does not infer that the flag is deliberately neglected. It's unconscious neglect that takes too much for granted. It is a state of mind that could be replaced by a deeper appreciation of country and flag.

Flag Day is the anniversary of adoption by the Continental Congress in 1777 of the Stars and Stripes as the official national emblem of the United States. Rules of etiquette for flag display evolved by custom but it wasn't until June 22, 1942, that Congress, by joint resolution, enacted these rules into public law.

The flag should always be carried aloft and free. It should never be used as a drapery—bunting is for that purpose. It should never be adorned with any mark or insignia, should not be used to receive, hold or carry anything, and should not be used for advertising purposes or as part of any uniform.

When a flag becomes unfit for display, it should be destroyed in a dignified way, preferably by burning.

STILL GROWING

Final figures on the 1950 census have been announced by the Census Bureau. As of April 1 of that year the United States had a total population of 154,233,000.
But the figure is outdated. The mechanical computer of the Department of Commerce shows that the population has since increased by more than 2,600,000.

The increase between 1940 and 1950 was approximately 1,900,- 000 a year. The increase since 1950, as shown by the computer, is at the rate of only 1,300,000 a year. This apparent downward trend is not explained by the Census Bureau. One reason may be the declining marriage rate. But at this rate of increase the 1960
should be not less than 167,000,- 000.

Up to a point rising population is welcome. Expanding numbers create expanding demand for food, clothing, shelter, etc.

The danger point is when numbers exceed the available food supply. Then, as in Asia, comes a low standard of living, with widespread poverty and recurrent famine. Scientific and mechanized agriculture in the United States should make possible an indefinite expansion of the nation's food supply and chemistry is providing substitutes for other essentials which may become exhausted.

This country's danger, in the foreseeable future, will lie not in its own population increase but in continued unrestricted growth in areas of the world where the means of existence are already spread desperately thin.

No Objections Are Filed To Change of Boundary Lines

Change of approximately equal territory all pupils in Levittown would walk to schools in "master blocks" in that development, none crossing any major highways. He pointed out that those children residing in sections four, five, two and three would all attend schools in that area; and those in sections six, seven, eight and nine would attend a school in their own area. The same would be the case for sections B and C. "Each area would be self-contained," Boehm informed. He added that safety and convenience of pupils would be better served, and that all Levittown pupils would be better located for the high schools of their particular area; and that considerable transportation would be eliminated.

He gave information on occupancy and sections proposed for development and how other residents (not Levittown) would be affected. His testimony included: "It looks as if assessments and assets are about equal. No industrial assessments are involved in the proposed changes."

Nelson C. Kanuf, administration assistant to Mr. Levitt for construction, told what comprises "master blocks," and gave information on boundaries. This included the school sites, park areas, houses, and equipment in "master blocks." When queried he said he was "reasonably sure" that the tracts for schools are to be given districts by the Levitt firm. (Later this was corrected by Alvan Thompson, for the sake of record, Thompson stating that the Levitt firm is selling tracts to the school districts).

Kanuf informed that about 1,000 houses comprise a "master block." He said about 60 have been completed with 900 under construction at present. Some are to be occupied within two weeks, 60 families moving during the first week. He added that later 150 to 175 houses will be completed each week, with approximately 700 families in Levittown by the start of next school term. He added that Levitt & Sons, Inc., are in favor of proposed boundary changes. Asked to return to the stand he answered queries on police protection and fire protection, showing that Bristol and Falls townships and Tullytown borough are aiding in such protective measures. Kanuf said that main highways and planted strips will mark boundaries, and thus with "visible boundaries," there should be no question in which district houses are located.

J. Norman Darrah, Churchillville, stated he is general manager for Wm. S. Erwin, civil engineer. He testified that the maps shown represent court records. He gave approximate acreage involved, and Conro suggested that Darrah compute definite acreage and submit such to proper officials.

Next called was George Sottung, president of Bristol twp. board of commissioners, one of the signers of the petition. Sottung stated the township commissioners favor the change. Alvan C. Thompson, president of Falls twp. school board, said the directors made a study of the plan, and feel such change will benefit and be of convenience to the township of Falls. Nicholas M. Eberle, Tullytown borough council president, another signer of the petition, said "Tullytown council felt the change would benefit that borough.

William J. McNabb asked the chairman if such proposed change as regards a first class township (such as Bristol twp.) is required to be put to vote of the populace. The answer was "no" in such a proceeding.

Elwood Britton, Bristol township, had a query regarding the area in Falls twp., bounded on the north by Mill Creek road, on the east by Tullytown-Fallsington road, on the south by Tullytown borough, and on the west by a section listed for exchange. He was told in answer to his question that that portion will remain in Falls twp. In regard to this parcel, Boehm told that such is owned by Warner Co. and that at the time the exchange was proposed there was no indication of that tract being sold to Levitt firm.

Names appearing on the petition to Bucks Co. courts, in addition to the Levitt firm are: Frank and Dorothea Tomlinson, Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Anderson. Although property of others in involved in the proposed exchange, it was mentioned that names were not listed as those property holders did not wish to become involved in the court case.

Locates Dep't Of Health for County

County will also be asked to do annually to the health department, as well as local communities, and the entire total from sources will be matched by State.

Teague said that it had been estimated that a county health department for an area of 100,000 population should operate on an estimated cost of $150,000 annually. The estimated budget on the 100,000 basis includes the following suggested personnel: One full-time public health physician as sal director, $10,000; one public health nursing director, $5,000; supervising public health nurses at $4,200 each; 15 public health nurses at $3,600 each; one health engineer, $5,500; at three sanitarians, at $4,500; sanitarian assistants at $3,300; one public health statistical clerk, $3,500; one public health auditor, $4,500; one secretary, $4,000; four clerks, at $2,100 each; part-time dental clinicians at $2 each; three part-time medical clinicians, at $2,000 each; printing expenses, rentals, etc., $100.

Teague said that the organization of a separate county health department does not necessarily mean the abolishment of local health, but that it is because in some instances.

The first step in organization of a project has been "sold" to the public and approved by the County Commissioners is the appointment of a County Board of five members, to include physicians. Then comes the drawing of a budget plan of operation with the State furnishing half the cost of operation, made possible through new laws passed at the last session of the legislature.

Teague pointed out that the county need very special attention, for in many cases is improper sewer systems. Many projects call for tanks and the soil in Bucks County, Dr. Teague pointed out, is fitted for this type of disposal, unless expert care and control is available, a serious outbreak of disease may occur.

Seven basic health services are minimum a county health department should serve Bucks County were enumerated as follows: Vital statistics, communicable disease control, environmental health, maternal and child health, laboratory service, health education and chronic disease control.

Dr. Teague stated that Butler County is now organized with a separate model county health demonstration unit that will be in full operation by July 15, from which other counties can copy. He advocated that Bucks County establish the demonstration unit for southeastern Pennsylvania.

Dr. Teague also pointed out that if the County Commissioners do not see fit to appropriate money or to favor the project on their own say-so, that the issue can be voted on by placing it on the ballots at the next county or special election.

Principal of Wood Street School Retires

located in Trenton, N. J. Her first teaching post was at Princeton, N. J., where she remained for four years, coming to Bristol she taught in Jefferson Avenue school for a short time; then at Washington street school several years; and for a number of years has been principal at Wood street school, teaching fifth grade pupils. She was principal at Washington street school while located there.

Not only has the retiring principal taught two generations in a number of families, but in several instances three generations.

"Extra-curricular" duties of Miss Rogers include serving as teacher for 30 members of the women's Bible class, St. James' Episcopal Church School; the secretaryship of Bucks County Woman's Christian Temperance Union, and treasurer of Bristol Branch of that organization; also treasurer of Bristol Council of Church Women. Among her hobbies are basketry and other handwork.

Miss Rogers is a past president and past secretary of the Bristol Branch, Penna. State Education Association.

Since coming to Bristol school system she has seen many changes. During her teaching days at Washington street school she had 56 pupils in her room, with double-seats used. At that time Miss Louise D. Baggs was superintendent of schools here. Miss Rogers has served as teacher during superintendency of three — Miss Baggs, Howard E. James and Warren P. Snyder.

She estimates that well over a thousand pupils have been in her classes here; and that through her principalship she has come in contact with several thousand more.

When she first came to Bristol there were no Mothers and Fathers Associations, and no Parent-Teacher Association. They had, however, "mothers' meetings," the mothers of pupils gathering once a month to discuss various matters with teachers. Wood street school, where she has been holding sway for some time, was the high school during her early days of teaching in Bristol.

Lower Bucks "Y" Plans Father and Son Program

program of "Y" Indian Guides is based upon the lore of the American Indian. This is because of the common interest of both fathers and sons in Indian life.

"Just as the colorful life of the Indian revolved around the wigwam or tepee, so the tribal meetings are held in rotation in the homes of the braves. These meetings are held twice a month," says a spokesman.

The program includes Indian lore, music, singing, dancing, sign language, simple handicrafts, home-made Indian costume, stories, games, ceremonials, outdoor program and program ideas available through the National Long House.

"There are no rigid tests to pass and there is no severe grading system. The program is carried on with a maximum of freedom, giving the boys a chance to develop their own initiative under the guidance of their dads. The Indian Guides, therefore, is a program developed for the busy but thinking father of today who is concerned lest someone else become the chum and confidant of his son."
